While Pin-Up owner Punin hides out in Cyprus, his associates are being detained around the world: blogger Kaysar Kamzu detained in Vietnam

Kazakh blogger Kaysar Kamzu, who is linked to the promotion of the Pin-Up online casino, may be extradited from Vietnam to Kazakhstan.

Photos from Cam Ranh Airport were published by followers of journalist Mikhail Kozachkov. The images show Kamzu being escorted by a man who appears to be an officer of Kazakhstan's Agency for Financial Monitoring.

Kamzu was placed on an international wanted list in January 2026. According to Kazakh journalists, the blogger, who has more than 2 million Instagram followers, promoted an online casino banned in Kazakhstan through a private Telegram channel with an audience of more than 400,000 people.

According to investigators, the scheme operated under the cover of the licensed Pin-Up bookmaker. Customers were redirected to websites offering roulette and other prohibited forms of gambling. Kamzu reportedly received substantial fees for promoting the scheme. His crypto assets worth almost $200,000 were also seized.

In April 2026, Vietnamese law enforcement detained the blogger in Cam Ranh at the request of Kazakhstan's Prosecutor General's Office. Kamzu later claimed that he had not been arrested and that immigration authorities had merely confiscated his passport. The latest photos from the airport may indicate that preparations are underway for his return to Kazakhstan.
